ERTHDAY DINNER FOR JAMES A. CALDWELL

TOTH ANNIVERSARY CELE BRATED AT HIS HOME.

Govers Laid for Eight Veterans at Old-Fashioned

Southern Dinner. A. Caldwell, one of the most rominent citizens of Chattanoga, as the honoree of a birthday dinner this home on McCallie avenue Mon-ay, which was planned as a surprise his two daughters, Mrs. Roland by his two daughters, Mrs. Roland Olmsted and Mrs. F. W. Smallman. The occasion marked Mr. Caldwell's seventy-fifth birthday anniversary, and the guests were confined to a limited number of Mr. Caldwell's close friends. Mr. Caldwell and family have been in Kennebunk Port, Mr. the summer and he retired Me., for the summer, and he returned much improved in health. His daugh-ters gave him this pleasant surprise by inviting eight of his friends and comrades of the Civil war to have an old-fashioned southern dinner with him on the occasion of his attaining his two score and fifteen years.

Mrs. Smallman and Mrs. Olmster seived the guests at the door and hered them into the living room. where they were greeted by Mr. Caldwell, and reminiscences were re-lated and current events discussed. Gift flowers adorned the lower floo were received all during the day; also telegrams and telephone messages of congratulations.

Dinner was served about 1 o'clock, ad while they were at the table a elephone message from Miss Mollie Kavanaugh, president of the Gen. A. P. Stewart chapter, U. D. C., was reeived, conveying congratulations on chalf of the chapter.

Unique and appropriate decorations were arranged on the table, espe-cially provided to infuse a spirit of good humor and surprises all d. The place cards were charcteristic ones, having been drawn by the humorous veteran cartoonist and artist, Col. L. T. Dickinson, Each one made some jovial reference to the individual beside whose plate it was placed, and laughter filled the m as they were read. The one ced at the head of the table, where Mr. Caldwell sat, was relative to an instance when Mr. Caldwell lost his way while taking a walk through the darkies seated on top, and surrounding the centerpiece were small bales of cotton and southern darkies in the field, the whole making a typical southern scene in miniature. At either end of the table were baskets of pink asters, and beside each plate were small bouquets of the same flowers. The birthday cake was iced in white and held seventy-five pink candles. The color note of pink and white prevailed in the ices, which were frozen in the shape of animals. James Johnston, of Madisonville, Tenn., cousin of the honoree, sat at the opposite end of the table from Mr. Caldwell, and the remaining six veterans on either side of the table. Mr. Caldwell has been a resident of Chattanooga for many years, and for almost the period of his residence here has been teacher of the Men's Bible class of the First Presbyterian church.

He was born Sept. 1, 1844, within a mile of the line of the Chickamauga-Chattanooga National Mili-tary park, in Catoosa county, now Walker county, Georgia, He educated at Bolivar academy and Hi-wassee college; Stewart college, wassee college; Stewart college, Clarksville, and the University of

In 1861 he went with the Third Tennessee infantry to Virginia, and was in Gen. Early's valley campaign in 1864 at the close of the Civil war. Both of James Adelbert Caldwell's parents were born in Monroe county, Tennessee. Mr. Caldwell was actively engaged in the practice of law until the beginning of the worldwide war, and does not conclude that he has retired from his profession. For several years he served as cierk and master in chancery, having been ap-pointed by Chancellor D. M. Keys
